Count Your Weaknesses!

Imagine...the very power of the Son of God was limited because some people thought they knew all there was to know about Jesus! That would never happen with us, would it? We would never make assumptions that God would not or could not use a person based on how he/she looked or based on some other perceived deficiency of theirs. Let's not limit that judgment to others either; maybe the greater sin is to judge ourselves unworthy to be used by God.

When I was approached by Fr. Karl Dowd many years ago about the Diaconate or Fr. Marc Montminy about teaching in the RCIA, every cell in my body said, "No way. This is a job for someone much more dynamic than I." But because someone else saw the potential in me, I agreed to take the first step to see if God was actually calling me to those ministries. You know the rest of the story!

St. Paul, in our 2nd reading for this weekend, points out one of the ways that God teaches us imperfect human beings. St Paul wants a "thorn in the flesh" removed by God so that he can do ministry better. God's reply is essentially "deal with it....but do it using the power and strength of my grace. Depend on my strength to deal with it and that way the credit and glory can only be given to me."

There's nothing more arrogant than a person who thinks they did it all on their own, that God had no part in it! David Wilkerson, a minister who had a ministry to the gangs in NY City was very successful in reducing the gang violence in that city until he came to assume that it was his talent that was doing the job and not the Presence of God. When he took the credit, his whole program fell to pieces around him.

So, if you have a nagging, persistent nudge to become active in a ministry (either in or outside the Parish), be receptive that it might just be that God is calling you. Try not to take inventory of your strengths and talents in order to weigh your merits for the call. God knows your weaknesses and your strengths better than you do yourself and He takes pleasure in providing abundantly where you are deficient. "My grace is sufficient for you, for power is perfected in (your) weakness," says the Lord!

Deacon David

Dear Brothers and Sisters in the Lord Jesus,

As you know, I will be leaving the parish to begin a sabbatical period which will involve a three month program in Jerusalem. I want to thank you for your prayers and for helping me to become a better priest and person. It has been a grace to help bring two wonderful communities together to worship our one God.

As a member of a religious order, the Society of Jesus, I take the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Each of the vows is directed toward mission, toward being available to God and my superiors to be sent wherever I am needed. Thus I am not tied to many things or to a family (as good as that is), so that I can be free to follow the call. I know that it is traditional to hold a nice dinner for an outgoing pastor and perhaps to give him gifts of some sort. Things tend to tie one down, which is why I have given away seven boxes of books (about half the number that the Rev. John Harvard gave away and a certain school in Cambridge came to have his name). I have too many things already.

Since my one sorrow has been that I have not been able to bring our combined parish into having a balanced budget, and because we have only been paying the Jesuit Community for ten months of salaries for two priests for each of the past three years, I ask that if you want to give me a gift, you make the gift out to our parish and put my name on the memo line. It will go toward paying a month's salary to my patient Jesuit Community at Holy Cross. That would ease my mind and be the one gift that I would like.

There will be a pot-luck dinner in the St. Joseph School Auditorium on Saturday, July 25 at 6PM. It will be a time to say, "Until we meet again in God's kingdom."

Be assured of my special prayers over the next five months as I go off on sabbatical and await a new assignment. I will keep you and your needs in prayer as I visit the places where Jesus walked and where the early Church began.

*Peace in the Lord Jesus,
Fr. John*
